Mare Breeding Services

Equine Reproduction Centers offers a full range of mare breeding services. The objectives of these services are to provide horse owners with the most current technology available for reproductive management of their mares. For more complete details and a fee schedule, please contact us at Equine Reproduction Centers.

Mare breeding services include breeding by artificial insemination with fresh, shipped-cooled or frozen-thawed semen. Mare breeding services are provided on an outpatient (trailer-in) or inpatient basis (mares housed at Equine Reproduction Centers). All services are charged on a per-procedure basis.

In order to determine the optimal time of breeding, when mares are in heat, they are examined with transrectal palpation and ultrasonography as frequently as deemed necessary. Mares being bred with artificial insemination with fresh semen are generally examined every other day while they are in heat.

Mares being bred with shipped-cooled semen are generally examined on a daily basis while they are in heat. Mares being bred with frozen-thawed semen are generally examined on a daily basis when they first enter heat and then two or three times daily when a preovulatory follicle develops. After breeding, mares are examined for pregnancy 12 or 14 days after ovulation.

Routine hormone treatments are administered as necessary to bring mares into heat and to hasten ovulation. In addition, uterine treatments such as antibiotic therapy and/or uterine lavage are performed as deemed necessary based on transrectal ultrasonography examinations or other diagnostic techniques such as a uterine culture.
